GENERAL NEWS NOTES OF THE DAY.

An Athens dispatch of yesterday says: "After a two-day bombardment, an Anglo-French squadron silenced the forts at the Bulgarian town of Porto Lagos and landed troops on Bulgarian soil. The allied land forces destroyed Bulgarian gun emplacements and after a brief reconnaissance withdrew. The landing was made on Wednesday with only slight casualties. Anglo-French troops moved northward toward the Bulgarian railway a few miles north of the bay of Porto Lagos, but encountering a superior Bulgarian force withdrew to their ships."

A Berlin dispatch of yesterday says: "Germany's final reply in the Lusitania matter is now being prepared at the foreign office. The exact time of its delivery has not been determined, but officials expressed confidence today that it will settle all submarine differences with the United States. Drafting of the note follows several weeks of informal exchanges between the foreign office and the American state department."

The British steamer Sutherland was torpedoed and sunk in the Mediterranean Monday. The crew was landed at Malta yesterday, one sailor having died of exposure in the lifeboat. The Dutch schooner Rongerman was blown up by a mine off the Danish coast with the loss of all on board, a Copenhagen dispatch to the London Daily Mail reported yesterday.

Five negroes taken from the Worth County jail at Sylvester, Ga., Thursday night, were hanged to one limb of a tree on the outskirts of Starkville, some time during the night. The bodies, containing many bullet holes, were cold when found Friday morning.

RACING AN ABSOLUTE ESSENTIAL.

The effects of the curtailing of racing in England, says the Sydney (Australia) "Referee," is evidence of the fact that racing keeps the thoroughbred up to its very highest standard. While the game is continued here this country will get the benefit of a lot of good blood coming from England but if racing were wiped out in England the thoroughbred would degenerate so rapidly that the supply of good horses would be certainly fall right away. Something should also be said about the character of the men who are engaged in breeding and using the thoroughbred for racing purposes. The greater part of the transactions of these enthusiasts show losses, but the fine big spirit which keeps the business of breeding and the game of racing going on never seems to be dulled by reverses. If the cranks could have their own way this splendid tribute to the British race would be so discouraged that it must eventually be wiped out of the character of the people.

PRAISE FOR AUSTRALIAN RACING.

Gentleman Conversant With the Turf in Many Lands

Says It Excels All.

Andrew Robertson, a prominent horseman of Australia, is visiting in San Francisco on his way to Sydney after exporting twenty-one thoroughbreds from England. Robertson is well known on the American turf for in the last fifteen years he has taken over hundreds of our thoroughbreds, trotters and pacers to Australia. He is owner of the Allendale Stockfarm near Melbourne, where a number of United States bred horses are quartered, says the San Francisco Chronicle of January 14.

Robertson says he is pleased to report that American horses have given a good account of themselves in his country. Only recently he won the Australian Cup with Lempire, by The Scribe, a horse that was bred and raised in Kentucky. Other local horses, which have been campaigned successfully by Robertson are Hamburg Belle and the trotter The Maid, that was taken over two years ago on the advice of Ben Walker and won the big stake of the season.
"Australia is undoubtedly the turf center of the world," says Robertson. "I have witnessed the sport in England, France and this country and they do not compare with the racing in Australia. Why, at Melbourne alone there are thirteen race tracks. The conditions of the races are liberal, too. Take the Melbourne Cup for an example. It is valued at $10,000 and it costs but $10 to make nominations that hold good until the week of the races. Then $150 is required to start, which is done to prevent the starting of horses that stand but little chance of winning and would be in the way in the big fields."

"The attendance at the races has been remarkable, considering that 150,000 men have been sent to the war. The people love the sport and it is run on a high plane. It is gratifying to see the increased interest being taken here. A grand opportunity is being offered American breeders to build up the standard of their thoroughbreds."

"I found racing in bad shape in England. It is practically the only big industry that has been hard hit by the war. Other conditions were as normal as in other times when I have been over there. While there were practically two race meetings every day in the year in other years, Newmarket was practically the only place where racing is being conducted and meetings are held only four days every other week. The rich men do not seem to have the money to keep up their racing stables and the general opinion is against spending money in that direction when it is needed in other channels. I think it will be years before the sport will be restored, even though the war should end at an early date."

"Choice English-bred thoroughbreds are selling cheap," continued Robertson. "I secured some yearlings by recognized sires out of producing dams for less than the price of the stallions' services. American breeders should take advantage of this opportunity to build up their blood lines. They have imported a number of horses, but they are going about it in the wrong way. I found that many of their London commissioners knew little or nothing about thoroughbreds."

"George Wingfield, your local horseman, made a good purchase when he secured Honeywood, the five-year-old by Polymelus—Honey Bird. I ventured to predict that Honeywood can beat any horse in this country over a mile. I look for him to make a name for himself here. The best horse in England is Pommern. He is by Polymelus and a wonder. It is a German name and there was some desire to change it, owing to the feeling over the war."

SPANISH RACING PROSPECTS BRIGHT.

After a suspension of some months, that bright little journal, "Le Sport Belge," made its reappearance in London on New Year's Day, and it is announced that it will be published on the first day of each month until further notice. Mr. Ad. de Neuter, proprietor of the paper, is now interesting himself in the arrangements for the opening of the Saint Sebastian race course in Spain—eleven hours' journey from Paris—and which is fixed for July 2. Meetings will be held at regular intervals during the month and will continue through August and September, so that considering that stakes of the value of about a million francs will be provided, it is evident that the sport of horse racing has a bright future before it in Spain. King Alfonso, it is understood, will have an extensive stable of thoroughbreds this year and under his majesty's patronage the sport should quickly become a flourishing industry.

The names of some of the races to be run during July are the Grand Prix de St. Sebastien, Prix de Belgique, Prix de France, Prix d'Espagne, Prix de Madrid and Prix de Newmarket, so that there will be quite an allied flavor about the programs. The great event during July is to be the Grand Prix of 100,000 francs (or paces), on Sunday, July 2, which is the opening day. Of the sum named, 15,000 francs are set aside for second, 10,000 for third, and 5,000 for fourth, leaving the winner 70,000. The distance is 2,400 metres, or about a mile and a half, and the event is open to unree-year-olds and upward on weight-for-age terms, with penalties and allowances as mentioned the latter being one for horses bred in Spain, while should a Spanish-bred horse win the breeder will receive 2,000 francs. Entries close in Paris, London or St. Sebastien on March 15, and as the minor forfeit is only 50 francs the event is one which should appeal to English owners, especially as there is a consolation handicap a week afterward for unplaced horses in the big race—"Augur" in London Sporting Life.
